days, eclipsing all others in the annals of the medical world. MacSwiney, who had been unconscious for several days, did not recover his faculties before he died. Father Dominic, bis private chaplain, and his brother, John MacSwiney, were with him when the end came. Father Dominic was at the prison all night and did not leave until several hours after MacSwiney breathed his last.

John MacSwiney and the chaplain, who had been waiting downstairs in the prison, were told by prison officials at 4:35 o'clock that they should go to the mayor's bedside, as they thought death was approaching. The brother asked for the privilege of communicating with other relatives who were not present, but the officials, it is said, refused him the use of a telephone.

Not Allowed to Leave. After the prisoner's death his brother and the chaplain were not permitted to leave Brixton prison until 6:15 o'clock. John MacSwiney im-mediately conveyed word to the widow of the lord mayor, who was staying at a West End hotel with Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, the former being the

No civilians were waiting there, as they usually did in the early days of the lord through the city small knots of people began moving toward Brixton prison. The police, however, did not allow any one to move into the street leading to the prison entrance, keeping the people moving so that a crowd would not form. Fears had previously been expressed that the lord mayor's death might cause a demonstration at the prison.

The MacSwiney family arranged during the morning for the removal of the body from the prison to St. George's Cathedral, in London, as soon inquest was ended. The body will lie in state there until it is taken to Dublin, where it is planned to place body for a day or two in the Man-

This statement is considered an in-direct answer to the criticisms of Dr. Josiah Oldfield, the physician and publicist, who had declared it was wrong for the lord mayor's doctors to administer meat juice and brandy. He said brandy was a poison and that a man at the point of death was very susceptible to poison. Dr. Oldfield added that when a man fasted a long time the first food he could endure was fruit juice. When one of the officials was asked Grave Alongside MacCurtain. MacSwiney's grave will be alongside that of his official predecessor, Lord Mayor Thomas MacCurtain, who was shot in his own home, in Cork, on March 20. MacSwiney will be the fourth to be buried in this plot, the others being MacCurtain, Sheamus Mc Guirke, who was taken out of bed ir his Galway home and shot, and Jeremiah McNesty, who participated in the Easter rising in Dublin, in 1916. These ararngements are contingent upon the possibility of governmental interference, which, however, is regarded as unlikely. The progress of the funeral party from Dublin to Cork will be marked by a series of Prof. Poppenberg says that Japan displays such great anxiety to get the machinery, a large part of which is lying dismantled and idle as a result of the German disarmament, that it looks as though the Japanese were speeding up military preparations. One proposal in the negotiations is to have the Germans supervise the construction of new munitions factories in Japan.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. CINCINNATI, Ohio, October 25 .- Gov. Every time Cox has run for office in Ohio he has either cut down the republican majority or carried the county. The republicans explain it was on the ground that the "wets" helped Cox, or that the republican organization itself was lukewarm toward such pronounced "drys" as Frank B. Willis, the opponent of Cox in two of the gubernatorial races.

What, therefore, will Cox do this year in Hamilton county? It seemed worth a special investigation.

First of all, much to my surprise, there is no wet and dry issue. Liquor organizations as such are not active or visible. The republican workers, however, being not at all blind to the fact that Hamilton county contains many republicans who have voted in the past for Cox on the wet issue. the past for Cox on the wet issue, simply reprinted in large quantities one of the newspaper dispatches from the far west wherein Cox said in ef-fect he would have voted dry had he been a member of the United States

Unless unlooked-for conditions arise he said, the drift will be over north-ern Ohio into Pennsylvania or New York state, thence into the extreme York state, thence into the extreme northeastern section of the United States. TWO CENTS.

Situation in National Campaign Practically Unchanged.

Belief in New York.

BY N. O. MESSENGER. NEW YORK, October 25.-One week from tomorrow tells the tale. On the following day there will be a number of political prophets' regalais for sale cheap, while a lot of other people will go around with their chests stuck out like a pouter pigeon, saying: "I told you so." Will the democratic expected miracle happen meantime-the complete reversal of the mass of public opinion? All considerations of common sense seem to answer the question in the negative. There will be some eleventhhour conversions, but it is not reasonable to expect a majority of the electorate to turn a flip-flop and land in the democratic camp over the week end. And all indications and known end. And all indications and known and tangible signs up to this time have pointed unerringly to the majority of the voters favoring the republican presidential ticket.

Conceded by Democrats. Outside the immediate managerial circle of the democrats, no democrats who have knowledge of conditions can who have knowledge of conditions can be found who will deny that such is the condition. The political observers, including those personally favoring the democratic canditdates, who have toured the country, agree that such is the case. They refuse to delude themselves, much as it hurts them to admit the cold facts facing their party.

Republican Viewpoint How about republican hopes and feelings? It can be truthfully said that the republican managers withthat the republican managers without exception are sincerely convinced that a smashing republican victory impends, and that the time is too short for democratic hopes of a change on the league of nations to materialize.

The expected republican victory may be smaller in the popular vote than it would have been had the elections been held two weeks ago, but it will not be materially smaller in the total of votes in the electoral college. The republican majority in the electoral college will constitute the "smashing republican victory."

There has been no material change in opinion in New York state or New York city recently. The republican situation has been "frozen" for a fortnight and the democrats have not been able to thaw it out. New York city gives prospect of going republican on the presidential ticket along with Brooklyn, while the upstate counties will roll up a big republican plurality.

Big Socialist Vote Predicted.

Secretary Tumulty has made & point of being a "good mixer" with the people. He has picked up a smattering of Italian, and delights an occasional visitor at the White House by labbering to him in his na-

Matt Tighe, veteran Washington Matt Tighe, veteran Washington correspondent, wanted to see Mr. Tumulty when the latter happened to be chatting with a delegation from New Jersey. "Joe" sent out word he was busy and couldn't see "Matt." Matt sat down to wait, and then had a happy inspiration. He wrote a note to Tumulty in Italian. Promptly came back the message—"Send Mr. Tighe right in."

Matt says that diplomacy pays.
